heritage value or interest. Council shall, before giving notice of its intention to designate a property, consult with its municipal heritage committee.

This report provides background information regarding the evaluation of fourteen (14) properties to determine their cultural heritage value and interest. The properties at 161 Princess Street, 163-165 Princess Street, 167 Princess Street, 23 Rideau Street, 25 Rideau Street, 27 Rideau Street, 29 Rideau Street, 31 Rideau Street, 33 Rideau Street, 25 Richard Street, 262 Princess Street, 3566 Boundary Road, 3748 Sand Hill Road and 427-429 Victoria Street/136 Mack Street were found to exceed the threshold established by the Province of Ontario for Designation under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act.

The owners of the properties listed above have been provided with the draft designation by-laws and general information on heritage designations by registered mail. The owners were also invited to an open house on July 24, 2024, hosted by Heritage Planning staff. One letter of objection was received from the owner of 27, 29 and 31 Rideau Street. All of the properties in this group meet the provincial criteria for evaluating cultural heritage value as set out in Ontario Regulation 9/06 and are thus recommended for designation.

The Notice of Intention to Designate and draft designation by-laws have been prepared in accordance with the recent amendments to the Ontario Heritage Act. Accordingly, staff recommend proceeding with serving Notice of Intention to Designate on the subject properties to ensure their conservation and to enable the City to provide support and resources to owners and tenants through the heritage permitting process and the Heritage Property Grant Program.

Recommendation:

That Kingston Heritage Properties Committee recommends to Council:

Background

Through Report Number HP-23-018, staff were directed to undertake the disposition of listed properties on the City of Kingston Heritage Register. Thirteen (13) of the properties noted here are part of the disposition process whereby staff are evaluating, reviewing and advancing for designation those currently listed properties that meet at least two of the Provincial Criteria for Determining Cultural Heritage Value or Interest (Ontario Regulation 9/06). The property at 161 Princess Street (Dickson Building) was not previously included on the City of Kingston Heritage Register; however, it was identified as having cultural heritage value as part of this project.

August 21, 2024

Process

The process for designation is outlined in detail in Report Number HK-21-004 (January 20, 2021). The 2020 changes to the Ontario Heritage Act created a two-tier appeal process for new and amended designations. Following consultation with its heritage committee, Council can choose to serve a notice of its intention to designate a property under Section 29 of the Ontario Heritage Act on the property owner(s) and the Ontario Heritage Trust and publish a notice in the newspaper. Within 30 days of the publication of the notice in the newspaper, anyone can object by providing a notice of objection to the City Clerk.

Any notice of objection received by the Clerk's office is then sent to City Council for consideration. Council has 90 days to decide if it wishes to withdraw its Notice of Intention to Designate/amend or not. Its decision is required to be served on the owner(s) and be published in the newspaper in the form of either a Notice of Passing (after giving final reading to the by-law) or a Notice of Withdrawal.

Regardless of whether an objection is received or not, the public is afforded a second opportunity to appeal the designation to the Ontario Land Tribunal within 30 days of the publication of the Notice of Passing. The Tribunal will review the appeal, hold a hearing and render a binding decision on the fate and content of the designation.

Analysis

Thirteen (13) of the fourteen properties being advanced for heritage designation were included on the City of Kingston Heritage Register as non-designated properties of cultural heritage value (also known as Listed properties) in 2010. The property at 161 Princess Street is currently not included on the Heritage Register.

As required by the recent (2022) updates to the Ontario Heritage Act, the properties were evaluated against the 'Criteria for Determining Cultural Heritage Value or Interest' in Ontario Regulation 9/06, which requires each property to meet at least two (2) of the nine (9) criteria to be considered for designation under the Act. It was determined that these properties satisfied two or more of the Regulation's evaluation criteria and accordingly met the requirements for designation under the Act.

All by-laws were prepared by staff or the consulting firm Heritage Studios. The Heritage Properties Working Group has reviewed the draft by-laws and supports the designation of the subject properties as properties of cultural heritage value and interest. The full statements of significance, including lists of attributes are included in the draft designation by-laws attached as Exhibits B through I. Photographs of each property are included in Exhibit J.

Once designated, the subject properties are eligible for the Heritage Property Grant Program and owners will be able to apply for funding of up to $5,000 for eligible restoration works once every two years.

Public Engagement

All owners were contacted by registered mail on July 5, 2024. Included with the cover letter was a copy of the draft by-law and an information sheet on heritage designations. A public open house meeting was held on July 24, 2024, hosted by Heritage Planning staff, in the Heritage Resource Centre at City Hall. The property owners from 3566 Boundary Road attended the open house to ask questions regarding the process and implications of heritage designation on their plans for the property.

One letter of objection was received from the owner of 27, 29 and 31 Rideau Street. In his email correspondence with staff dated July 11 and 12, 2024 (Exhibit K), the owner expresses his belief that the properties do not meet the threshold for designation. As noted in staff's response, this brick row on Rideau Street is a good example of simple working-class housing from the 19th century and contributes to the historic character of this portion of Rideau Street.

While property owners are not required to support the designation for it to move forward, feedback received from the owners is considered and added to the draft by-laws as appropriate.

Conclusion

Staff recommend proceeding with serving the Notice of Intention to Designate the fourteen (14) properties noted above. Exhibit A presents the Notice of Intention to Designate, prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Ontario Heritage Act, for both publication in The Whig Standard newspaper and a more detailed notice to be published on the City's website.

It is recommended that the Notice be served by the Clerk as required by Sections 29(3) and (4) of the Act. Should no notice of objection be received by the Clerk within the thirty (30) day timeframe, staff recommends that Council approve the draft designation by-laws, attached as Exhibits B through I, and serve a Notice of Passing in accordance with Section 29(8) of the Act.

-- Website Version--

Notice of Intention to pass a By-law to Designate
The following properties to be of Cultural Heritage Value and Interest Pursuant to the Provisions of the Ontario Heritage Act (R.S.O. 1990, Chapter 0.18)

Take Notice that the Council of The Corporation of the City of Kingston intends to pass by-laws under Section 29 of the Ontario Heritage Act, R.S.O. 1990, Chapter 0.18, to designate the following lands to be of cultural heritage value and interest:

161 Princess Street (Part Lot 296 Original Survey, PT 1, 13R13602; T/W FR656138; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac), known as the Dickson Building;

The subject property at 161 Princess Street is located on the north side of Princess Street on the block bound by Montreal, Queen and Bagot Streets in downtown Kingston. The subject property contains the circa 1856 Dickson Building, a three-storey brick commercial building that forms part of a larger brick row at 155-159 Princess Street, which was known as Dr. John Dickson's Medical Hall or in 1857-1858 as Dickson's Brick Block.

Constructed circa 1856, the Dickson Building (161 Princess Street) has design value as an example of a mid-19th century brick commercial row that demonstrates a shift away from Classicism towards early Victorian architecture in downtown Kingston. Significantly, the two bays of 161 Princess Street most closely represent the original design intention of the nine-bay red brick commercial row stretching east to Bagot Street. The shift away from Classicism is seen in the design of the frieze with brick brackets and recessed brick panels (unfortunately flashing has been installed on the cornice). The frieze brickwork appears to be dichromatic with buff coloured brick brackets as accents. The brick façade incorporates brick stretchers of several different sizes, likely to fit the bond to the bay and window opening sizes but does so in an elegant manner such that it is not readily apparent, with headers bonding the wall together.

The original window openings are capped with painted cast iron hoods and rest upon stone sills with corbelled brick brackets. Below the third-floor windows, the stone sills align with a stone string course that runs across the third storey. The remainder of the brick row (155-159 Princess) features arches over window openings where the cast iron hoods have been removed. At the west end of the row, the arch brickwork is in good condition and represents how the concealed arches at 161 Princess Street would look if the hoods were removed.

The Dickson Building (161 Princess Street) has associative value because it demonstrates the work of well-known Kingston architect, William Coverdale Sr. William emigrated with his family from York, England, as a child, arriving in the Richelieu Region south of Montreal in 1810. He moved to Kingston around 1832 with his family, and worked as an architect for about 30 years, being described as a "conscientious designer who anchored his creative work on the bedrock of symmetry and stability inherent in the classical tradition". His projects ranged from institutional buildings (i.e. the Kingston Penitentiary and Rockwood Asylum) to religious (i.e. St. George's Cathedral) to residential and commercial buildings. Around the middle of the 19th century, the mid-point of his career, he risked more novel designs including the Dickson Building, the Anchor Building and City Book Store (since demolished). All these buildings showcase cast-iron and glass shopfronts as well as cast-iron window hoods. The shape of the window hoods on 161 Princess Street closely mirrors those on the City Book Store, which was constructed in about the same year as the Dickson Building.

The property has contextual value for its role in supporting and maintaining the historic commercial character of Princess Street. The Dickson building contributes to the diversity of 19th century architectural styles in downtown Kingston, and particularly in the block between Bagot and Montreal Streets.

Its heritage attributes include the three-storey massing, red brick façade, original openings with decorative iron goods and stone sill with corbels, its projecting string course and dichromatic brickwork.

163-165 Princess Street (Part Lot 297 Original Survey Kingston City as in FR270028 S/T & T/W FR270028; S/T interest in FR270028; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac); and

167 Princess Street (Part Lot 297 Original Survey Kingston City as in FR659440 S/T & T/W FR659440, T/W interest in FR659440; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac), known as the Powell Building;

The subject property at 163-167 Princess Street is located on the north side of Princess Street on the block bound by Montreal, Queen and Bagot Streets in downtown Kingston. Spanning two separate parcels, the subject property contains the Powell Building, a four-storey stone commercial building constructed circa 1840-1841. James Powell owned 163-167 Princess Street from 1840 into the 1880s.

Constructed circa 1840-1841, the Powell Building (163-167 Princess Street) has design value as an early surviving example of a four-storey Neo-Classical Georgian commercial building in downtown Kingston. Although the floor-to-ceiling heights are low (likely for financial reasons), its architectural style and height is unusual for its location along Princess Street. The squatness of the façade, resulting from the low floor-to-ceiling heights on the fourth storey, is somewhat mitigated by the forward projection of the two most westerly bays, which helps to increase its sense of verticality.

The exceptional craftsmanship is evident in its ashlar stonework façade (the rear elevations are uncoursed rubble masonry), including chisel-tooled (comb finish) margins around the window openings, stone sills and lintels, and overall lack of ornamentation.

The main stone cornice above the third floor and the smaller cornice with parapet above the fourth floor give visual depth and proportion to its four-storey massing. Another characteristic of the Georgian style is the smaller square windows on the top floor, one of which is blind (in-filled with stone). The architectural character and style of the building is common in terrace buildings of the same era in Edinburgh, Scotland, and may reflect the influence of immigrant Scottish masons.

The properties have contextual value for their role in supporting and maintaining the historic commercial character of Princess Street and downtown Kingston. Together with the Tolbert Building (156 Princess) on the south side of the street, the Powell building is one of only a few remaining limestone facades on the block, all of which play an important role in maintaining the 19th century origins and character of lower Princess Street. The continuity of the buildings' window lines, street-wall presence and Georgian commercial style creates a physical, visual and historical link to the commercial buildings along lower Princess Street.

Its heritage attributes include the four-storey massing with parapet wall, coursed ashlar limestone façade, original window openings, projecting ashlar limestone string course and cornices above the third and fourth floors.

29 Rideau Street (Part Lot 1-3 Plan D30 Kingston City; Part Gore A Plan D30 Kingston City as in FR317107; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac); and

31 Rideau Street (Part Lot 2-3, 9 Plan D30 Kingston City; Part Gore A Plan D30 Kingston City as in FR316958 S/T Interest in FR316958; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac); and

33 Rideau Street (Part Lot 2-4, 9 Plan D30 Kingston City Part 1 13R8461 T/W Interest in FR527710; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac), known as the Rankin-Young Terrace:

The Rankin-Young Terrace, at 23, 25, 27, 29, 31 and 33 Rideau Streets, is located on the east side of Rideau Street, south of Ordnance Street, in the Inner Harbour neighbourhood of the City of Kingston. The terrace, which spans six (6) separate properties, consists of six attached two-storey red brick residential buildings fronting Rideau Street. The terrace includes five units of a similar design, constructed circa 1876. The most northerly unit was likely constructed later towards the end of the 19th century. The Rankin and Young families each owned approximately half of the land that this terrace was constructed upon from 1862 until the first sale in 1947.

The Rankin-Young Terrace is a good example of well-designed late Georgian row housing in the Inner Harbour neighbourhood, in the City of Kingston. The property's proximity to historic industry along the Cataraqui River made it a logical location for this form of working-class rental housing (i.e. carpenters, milkers, bakers, wood dealers are listed in the 1889-1890 City Directory). Although constructed in the Victorian era, the overall composition, and placement of the windows, continues to follow the Georgian tradition. The use of slightly projecting two-storey entrance bays provide depth and articulation to the otherwise long and undecorated façade. The windows with segmental arches and stone sills are large, well-proportioned and regularly placed. The red brick walls are in running/stretcher bond and rest upon a limestone foundation with ashlar base course on the façade. The rear wall is uncoursed limestone masonry with brick window surrounds. 29, 31 and 33 Rideau Street have wooden soffits and fascia, which may be original.

The most southerly unit (Number 23) has more widely spaced bays and a plain brick pilaster defines the southwest corner. Its south elevation also features two unusual arched windows in the attic. Despite the removal of all original chimneys (the chimney on Number 33 appears to be a modern reconstruction) and the addition of several large dormers and a third-floor additions, the row house form and design of the Rankin-Young Terrace continue to be legible.

The most northerly unit at Number 33 is likely a later 19th century addition. It is set back from the façade of the five-unit terrace and has both gable and hipped roofs. Its design has a distinctly Victorian character resulting from the narrow tall windows and two-storey porch with turned posts and decorative balustrade. The windows have flat heads and stone sills. A bay window with simple frieze and cornice and containing a large window with a stained-glass transom light, further distinguishes it. Nonetheless, it contributes to the terrace's character and forms an interesting terminus to the north end.

This portion of Rideau Street, between Barrack and Ordnance Streets, has a distinctive character of mid-19th century to early 20th century working-class housing constructed of stone or brick. Most of the houses are two to two-and-a-half storeys with gabled roofs and tightly spaced (largely semi-detached or row houses) and with little setback from the road. The shallow setback of the Rankin-Young Terrace from Rideau Street, its row-house form and architectural style, maintains and supports the 19th century character of this block of Rideau Street.

Its heritage attributes include the two-storey massing with gabled roof and brick construction with two-storey projecting entrance bays, its original windows openings and limestone foundation, and two-storey wooden verandah (at 33 Rideau Street).

25 Richard Street (Lot 33 N/S Richard St Plan 54; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac):

The subject property at 25 Richard Street is located on the north side of the street, midblock between Mowat Avenue and Logan Street in the Village of Portsmouth, now City of Kingston. This approximately 688 square metre residential property contains a two-storey vernacular frame and limestone house constructed circa 1860 for Richard Howard and Bridget Gillespie. A detached garage built in the early-20th century is also present on the property.

The property is a rare example of a mid-19th century two storey wood frame Georgian cottage with a tall limestone foundation/first storey. The side gable roof and a central unadorned entranceway flanked by symmetrically placed windows is typical of the Georgian style. While this building has been modified and restored several times, its profile, massing and fenestration pattern still retain a clear Georgian character.

The house is unusual as it is built into the slope of a hill, resulting in a full storey stone foundation. The main entranceway is thus located in the stone foundation, which also includes two large six-over-six sash windows facing south with wooden sills and lintels.

The house was built for Richard Howard and his wife Bridget Gillespie around 1860. Howard was an Irish immigrant and ship carpenter, who is recorded as living in the Village since at least 1844 and who bought the property in 1850 for £38.

The former Village of Portsmouth has a distinct heritage character, consisting of a high proportion of 19th century stone and frame buildings within the village. With its distinct Georgian design and prominent street presence onto Richard Street, the subject property helps define and maintain the village character of Portsmouth.

The house's unusually tall foundation and location, looming close to Richard Street, are a direct result of the slope of the property and street. As one of several early stone and frame buildings in this area of the Village of Portsmouth, the property is visually and historically linked to its surroundings.

Its heritage attributes include the two-storey masing, limestone and wood frame construction, with side gable roof, symmetrical front façade and original window openings.

262 Princess Street (Part Lot 12 N/S Brock St, 12 S/S Princess St Plan Selma Subdivision Kingston City as in FR278199; S/T & T/W FR278199; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac), known as the Strand/Tivoli Theatre:

The Strand/Tivoli Theatre property, at 262 Princess Street, is located on the south side of the street, midblock between Montreal and Clergy Streets, in downtown Kingston. The approximately 574 square-metre commercial property contains a two-storey building with ornate front facade, built originally as the Strand Theatre circa 1915.

The Strand/Tivoli Theatre is a representative example of early 20th century theatre building in downtown Kingston completed in the Beaux-Arts Classicism style, with its distinctive neo-classical glazed terra-cotta façade that displays a high degree of craftsmanship and artistic effort.

Consisting of an arcade decorated in the Corinthian style, the rich Baroque facade includes corbelling, arched windows and engaged columns, that is reminiscent of the theatres of London and was used for the new movie houses springing up across Ontario in the late 19th and early parts of the 20th centuries. The arcade has engaged Corinthian columns and decorated keystones in the arches. The large pilasters at the outer edges of the arcade each have cable moulding marking the rectangular panel below elaborate capitals. Below the arcade is a recessed panel edged with cable moulding and holding four cartouches (with modern images). The cornice is embellished with consoles, dentils and an egg and dart banding.

The arched second storey windows were blinded during its time as a furniture store but reintroduced in 2011 by the current owners. A substantial restoration of the exterior detailing was also completed in 2011 including an entire reconstruction of the ground floor façade.

Its current commercial use on the ground floor maintains the historic development pattern in downtown Kingston (i.e. commercial at grade with residential/office space above).

The property has historical value through its connection to the Strand and Tivoli Theatres and the popularity of theatres in Kingston in the early 20th century. Early maps show a two-storey frame building on this property when it was sold to Harry Martin and T.J. Nugent in 1915. A new purpose-built theatre building was constructed later that year and called the Strand Theatre. When it opened its doors on September 18, 1915, it was said to be “one of the most modern and up-to-date on the American continent” with one of the finest front facades “of any building in Canada.”

It was later sold to Famous Players who, with the help of many local trades’ persons, including well-known local architect Colin Drever, renovated the theatre and renamed it the Tivoli Theatre. Tivoli Theatre’s opening night was May 5, 1930 and featured Winnie Lightner and Chester Morris in “She Couldn’t Say No”.

The property was sold to the Modern Furniture Company Limited in 1946 and was converted to a retail store the following year. The building was again renovated in 2011 after it was sold to the current owners who opened the Trailhead Kingston store. The 2011 restoration was managed by local contractor Pat Powers Construction, with painting done by the Ecclesiastical Group.

Its contextual value derives from its important role in defining this former entertainment district and supporting the character of the Princess Street streetscape. The Strand/Tivoli Theatre, in association with the Capitol Theatre (223 Princess), the Grand Theatre (218 Princess) and formerly the Orpheum Theatre (250 Princess) to the east defined the evolving entertainment district along Princess Street from the early 1920s through to the 1970s when the industry shifted to suburban locations.

The former theatre also helps to define and maintain the historic and eclectic character of this section of Princess Street between Clergy and Montreal Streets. The Strand/Tivoli Theatre is an important visual contributor to the historic streetscape within the block that features mostly two and three storey, mixed commercial and residential buildings constructed of stone, brick, and concrete in a number of styles that were successively developed between circa 1860 through to circa 1930, most of which are valuable heritage resources. This collection of buildings is important as it demonstrates the diverse architectural and historical themes of the economic, social and cultural development of Kingston from the late nineteenth through the twentieth centuries.

With its distinct Baroque detailing and grand arched windows, the Strand/Tivoli Theatre is a landmark within downtown Kingston.

Its heritage attributes include the two-storey, five-bay massing with low-pitched sloping roof and distinct terra-cotta façade, complete with original window openings and various architectural detailing.

3566 Boundary Road (East 1/4 Lot 37 Con 6 Pittsburgh, Lot 38 Con 6 Pittsburgh of 13R6763 Except 13R6785; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac):

The subject property, at 3566 Boundary Road, is situated on the south side of Sand Hill Road, west of Boundary Road, in the former Pittsburgh Township, now part of the City of Kingston. This approximately 48-hectare rural property contains a one-and-a-half storey Ontario vernacular sandstone farmhouse constructed circa 1855 for the Connor family. A large rear addition, with attached garage, was added in 2016 to replace a 1960s addition. Various outbuildings are also present on the property, dating from the 20th and 21st centuries.

The property includes a rare example of a mid-19th century sandstone farmhouse, constructed from material likely quarried locally. Sandstone, as a construction material, is relatively rare in Kingston, with only a few examples found in the rural areas of the former Pittsburgh Township.

The subject dwelling's simple vernacular architecture is expressed through its restrained profile, lack of ornamentation, side-gable roof with central gable and cut coursed sandstone construction with symmetrical front façade. The only embellishment added is the arched window opening in the gable. The dwelling retains its distinct 19th century vernacular profile and unusual multi-coloured sandstone construction.

The subject property is associated with the Connor family who built the house and farmed the property for at least two generations. Luke Connor, who immigrated from Ireland sometime before 1830, purchased the property in 1863; however, he and his wife and seven children had been living on the property in a log house from as early as the late 1840s. The dwelling was built circa 1855 and remained in the Connor family until the early 20th century. The small watercourse that crosses the property and eventually feeds into Mud Creek, is named the "Connor Branch" in honour of the Connor family.

The subject property has contextual value as its simple vernacular design, integrity, multi-coloured sandstone construction, generous setback from the road, various agricultural buildings and the proximity of these features to the road, supports and maintains the scenic and historic rural character of the road. Despite a general lack of sandstone buildings within the City of Kingston, 3566 Boundary Road is located in close proximity to another sandstone building (located at 3748 Sand Hill Road) within the crossroads community of Springfield, suggesting the preference for a vernacular material in the area.

With its Ontario vernacular style, sandstone construction material, likely quarried locally, the dwelling shares a visual and historical relationship with its surroundings and is an important part of the historical rural context of the area.

Its heritage attributes include the one-and-a-half-storey multi-coloured sandstone house with gable roof and original fenestration pattern with central entrance.

3748 Sand Hill Road (Part Lot 36 Con 7 Pittsburgh Part 1 13R18925; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac):

The Spence House, located at 3748 Sand Hill Road, is situated on the north side of the road, west of Boundary Road, in the former Pittsburgh Township, now part of the City of Kingston. This 1.4-hectare rural residential property contains a two-and-a-half storey L-shaped Ontario vernacular sandstone farmhouse constructed in 1900 for the Spence family, members of whom still own it today.

The Spence House is a rare example of an early 20th century, 'L'-shaped sandstone farmhouse. Reportedly quarried from the rear of the property, the Spence House is constructed of light sandstone, with imported dark red sandstone for the voussoirs and windowsills. Sandstone as a construction material is relatively rare in Kingston, with only a few examples found in the rural areas of the former Pittsburgh Township.

The Spence House's simple vernacular architecture is expressed by its restrained profile with cross-gable roof and uncoursed sandstone construction with symmetrical front façade. Some embellishments are added, such as the window openings with slight arches topped by dark red coloured voussoirs and sills that contrast the lighter sandstone. While not confirmed, it is understood that the main front door opening (now enclosed by the modern porch that replaced an earlier verandah) is topped by a rectangular transom with radiating voussoirs above.

The Spence House is associated with the Spence family who have occupied and farmed the property for over 170 years. The property was purchased by John Spence in 1870, however he had occupied the land since 1851. The Spence family lived in a log house on the property until the current house was built in 1900 by John's son Thomas William Spence. The property has remained in the Spence family ever since.

The Spence House has contextual value as its simple vernacular design, integrity, multi-coloured sandstone construction, generous setback from the road, various former agricultural buildings and the proximity of these features to the road, supports and maintains the scenic and historic rural character of the road. Despite a general lack of sandstone buildings within the City of Kingston, 3748 Sand Hill Road is located in close proximity to another sandstone building (located at 3566 Boundary Road) within the crossroads community of Springfield, suggesting the preference for a vernacular material in the area.

With its Ontario vernacular style, sandstone construction material taken from the property, the Spence House shares a physical, visual and historical relationship with its surroundings and is an important part of the historical rural context of the area.

Its heritage attributes include the two-and-a-half-storey sandstone house with cross-gable roof and symmetrical façade with original fenestration pattern of segmentally arched openings with dark red sills and voussoirs.

427-429 Victoria Street/136 Mack Street (Part Lot 85-86 Plan A8 Kingston City as in FR623939; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac):

The subject property, at 427-429 Victoria Street/136 Mack Street, is situated on the southeast corner of the intersection of Victoria and Mack Streets, in the Williamsville area of the City of Kingston. The approximately 948 square metre residential parcel contains a two-storey limestone residence with Italianate elements, constructed in the late 1860s. Modest (and sympathetically designed) additions were added to the south (side) and east (rear) sides of the dwelling in 20th century.

The Italianate style for a standalone residential building is relatively rare in Kingston, making the subject property a rare example of a two-storey limestone house with Italianate influences in Kingston. The main front entrance and façade of the house faces west towards Victoria Street.

The house is constructed of limestone laid in even courses on the front/eastern façade and in uneven courses on the side elevations. Typical of the Italianate style is the rectangular massing and hip roof with deep cornice and prominent front entrance. Also typical of the style is the organized arrangement of large windows on the front façade. The house has two tall chimneys, one on each the north and south sides of the roof. The front/west façade is symmetrical, featuring a projecting central bay with a prominent front entrance framed by a stone porch. The window openings feature limestone voussoirs and stone sills. The north elevation includes a single bay of windows with limestone voussoirs and stone sills.

The subject property is located south of Princess Street, north of Brock Street and west of Victoria Park, in a part of the Williamsville area that is dominated by post World War 2 housing. The subject limestone dwelling is distinct and defines the immediate area, which has few remaining buildings from this period. Its form, limestone construction, broad two-storey massing and prominent corner location not only make this building a landmark in the area, but also helps to maintain the former original material fabric of the Williamsville area.

Its heritage attributes include the two storey limestone dwelling with hipped roof and tall brick chimneys, and its symmetrical front and side fenestration and limestone porch.

Description and Criteria for Designation
Dickson Building

Civic Address: 161 Princess Street
Legal Description: Part Lot 296 Original Survey, Part 1, 13R13602; T/W
FR656138; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac
Property Roll Number: 1011 030 080 10300

Introduction and Description of Property

The subject property at 161 Princess Street is located on the north side of Princess Street on the block bound by Montreal, Queen and Bagot Streets in downtown Kingston. The subject property contains the circa 1856 Dickson Building, a three-storey brick commercial building that forms part of a larger brick row at 155-159 Princess Street, which was known as Dr. John Dickson’s Medical Hall or in 1857-1858 as Dickson’s Brick Block.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

Constructed circa 1856, the Dickson Building (161 Princess Street) has design value as an example of a mid-19th century brick commercial row that demonstrates a shift away from Classicism towards early Victorian architecture in downtown Kingston. Significantly, the two bays of 161 Princess Street most closely represent the original design intention of the nine-bay red brick commercial row stretching east to Bagot Street. The shift away from Classicism is seen in the design of the frieze with brick brackets and recessed brick panels (unfortunately flashing has been installed on the cornice). The frieze brickwork appears to be dichromatic with buff coloured brick brackets as accents. The brick façade incorporates brick stretchers of several different sizes, likely to fit the bond to the bay and window opening sizes but does so in an elegant manner such that it is not readily apparent, with headers bonding the wall together.

The original window openings are capped with painted cast iron hoods and rest upon stone sills with corbelled brick brackets. Below the third-floor windows, the stone sills align with a stone string course that runs across the third storey. The remainder of the brick row (155-159 Princess Street) features arches over window openings where the cast iron hoods have been removed. At the west end of the row, the arch brickwork is in good condition and represents how the concealed arches at Number 161 would look if the hoods were removed.

City of Kingston By-Law Number 2024-XX

Based on a 19th century photographic evidence, it appears that the storefronts were cast-iron with flanking columns and large panes of glazing. The storefronts, together with original wooden shutters on the upper floor windows, have been removed.

The property has historical value or associative value because it demonstrates or reflects the work or ideas of an architect, artist, builder, designer or theorist who is significant to a community.

The Dickson Building (161 Princess Street) has associative value because it demonstrates the work of well-known Kingston architect, William Coverdale Sr. William emigrated with his family from York, England, as a child, arriving in the Richelieu Region south of Montreal in 1810. He moved to Kingston around 1832 with his family, and worked as an architect for about 30 years, being described as a “conscientious designer who anchored his creative work on the bedrock of symmetry and stability inherent in the classical tradition”. His projects ranged from institutional buildings (i.e. the Kingston Penitentiary and Rockwood Asylum) to religious (i.e. St. George’s Cathedral) to residential and commercial buildings. Around the middle of the 19th century, the mid-point of his career, he risked more novel designs including the Dickson Building, the Anchor Building and City Book Store (since demolished). All these buildings showcase cast-iron and glass shopfronts as well as cast-iron window hoods. The shape of the window hoods on 161 Princess Street closely mirrors those on the City Book Store, which was constructed in about the same year as the Dickson Building.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

The property has contextual value for its role in supporting and maintaining the historic commercial character of Princess Street. The Dickson building contributes to the diversity of 19th century architectural styles in downtown Kingston, and particularly in the block between Bagot and Montreal Streets.

Heritage Attributes

Key exterior elements that contribute to the property’s cultural heritage value include its:

- Three-storey massing;
- Red brick façade in modified stretcher bond;
- Original window openings with painted cast iron decorative hoods and stone sills with corbelled brick brackets;
- Projecting stone string course below third-floor windows; and
- Decorative and dichromatic brickwork including the recessed panels below the eave and evenly spaced large, paired brick brackets.

Introduction and Description of Property

The subject property at 163-167 Princess Street is located on the north side of Princess Street on the block bound by Montreal, Queen and Bagot Streets in downtown Kingston. Spanning two separate parcels, the subject property contains the Powell Building, a four-storey stone commercial building constructed circa 1840-1841. James Powell owned 163-167 Princess Street from 1840 into the 1880s.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

Constructed circa 1840-1841, the Powell Building (163-167 Princess Street) has design value as an early surviving example of a four-storey Neo-Classical Georgian commercial building in downtown Kingston. Although the floor-to-ceiling heights are low (likely for financial reasons), its architectural style and height is unusual for its location along Princess Street. The squatness of the façade, resulting from the low floor-to-ceiling heights on the fourth storey, is somewhat mitigated by the forward projection of the two most westerly bays, which helps to increase its sense of verticality.

The property has design value or physical value because it displays a high degree of craftsmanship or artistic merit.

The craftsmanship is evident in its ashlar stonework façade (the rear elevations are uncoursed rubble masonry), including chisel-tooled (comb finish) margins around the window openings, stone sills and lintels, and overall lack of ornamentation.

The main stone cornice above the third floor and the smaller cornice with parapet above the fourth floor give visual depth and proportion to its four-storey massing. Although the original windows have been removed, photographic evidence indicates a six-over-six patterning, which would have added visual interest to the otherwise austere character of the building. Another characteristic of the Georgian style is the smaller square windows on the top floor, one of which is blind (in-filled with stone). The architectural character and style of the building are common in terrace buildings of the same era in Edinburgh, Scotland, and may reflect the influence of immigrant Scottish masons. The ground floor, including storefronts, has been completely altered.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

The properties have contextual value for their role in supporting and maintaining the historic commercial character of Princess Street and downtown Kingston. Together with the Tolbert Building (156 Princess Street) on the south side of the street, the Powell building is one of only a few remaining limestone facades on the block, all of which play an important role in maintaining the 19th century origins and character of lower Princess Street. The continuity of the buildings' window lines, street-wall presence and Georgian commercial style creates a physical, visual and historical link to the commercial buildings along lower Princess Street.

Heritage Attributes

Key exterior elements that contribute to the property's cultural heritage value include its:

- Four-storey massing with parapet wall;
- Coursed ashlar limestone façade with bush-hammered finish, and approximately 3" wide chisel-tooled (comb finish) margins around second floor window openings;
- Original window openings with stone lintels and sills;
- Projecting ashlar limestone string course above second storey; and
- Cornices above third and fourth floors.

Introduction and Description of Property

The Rankin-Young Terrace, at 23, 25, 27, 29, 31 and 33 Rideau Streets, is located on the east side of Rideau Street, south of Ordnance Street, in the Inner Harbour neighbourhood of the City of Kingston. The terrace, which spans six (6) separate properties, consists of six attached two-storey red brick residential buildings fronting Rideau Street. The terrace includes five units of a similar design, constructed circa 1876. The most northerly unit was likely constructed later towards the end of the 19th century. The Rankin and Young families each owned approximately half of the land this terrace was constructed upon from 1862 until the first sale in 1947.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

The Rankin-Young Terrace is a good example of well-designed late Georgian row housing in the Inner Harbour neighbourhood, in the City of Kingston. The property's proximity to historic industry along the Cataraqui River made it a logical location for this form of working-class rental housing (i.e. carpenters, milkers, bakers and wood dealers are listed in the 1889-1890 City Directory). Although constructed in the Victorian era, the overall composition and placement of the windows continues to follow the Georgian tradition. The use of slightly projecting two-storey entrance bays provides depth and articulation to the otherwise long and undecorated façade. The windows with segmental arches and stone sills are large, well-proportioned and regularly placed. The red brick walls are in running/stretcher bond and rest upon a limestone foundation with ashlar base course on the façade. The rear wall is uncoursed limestone masonry with brick window surrounds. 29, 31 and 33 Rideau Street have wooden soffits and fascia, which may be original.

The most southerly unit (Number 23) has more widely spaced bays and a plain brick pilaster defines the southwest corner. Its south elevation also features two unusual arched windows in the attic. Despite the removal of all original chimneys (the chimney on Number 33 appears to be a modern reconstruction) and the addition of several large dormers and a third-floor addition, the row house form and design of the Rankin-Young Terrace continue to be legible.

The most northerly unit at Number 33 is likely a later 19th century addition. It is set back from the façade of the five-unit terrace and has both gable and hipped roofs. Its design has a distinctly Victorian character resulting from the narrow tall windows and two-storey porch with turned posts and decorative balustrade. The windows have flat heads and stone sills. A bay window with simple frieze and cornice and containing a large window with a stained-glass transom light, further distinguishes it. Nonetheless, it contributes to the terrace's character and forms an interesting terminus to the north end.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

This portion of Rideau Street, between Barrack and Ordnance Streets, has a distinctive character of mid-19th century to early 20th century working-class housing constructed of stone or brick. Most of the houses are two to two-and-a-half storeys with gabled roofs and tightly spaced (largely semi-detached or row houses), with little setback from the road. The shallow setback of the Rankin-Young Terrace from Rideau Street, its row-house form and architectural style, maintain and support the 19th century character of this block of Rideau Street.

Heritage Attributes

Key exterior elements that contribute to 23-31 Rideau Street's cultural heritage value include its:

- Two-storey massing with gable roof;
- Red brick masonry walls in running/stretcher bond;
- Two-storey projecting entrance bays with original entrance openings with transom lights;
- Original window openings with segmental brick arches and stone sills on the façade and south elevation;
- Pair of semi-round windows in the attic of the south elevation on Number 23; and
- Limestone foundation with ashlar base course on the façade.

Key exterior elements that contribute to 33 Rideau Street's cultural heritage value include its:

- Two-storey massing with hipped and gabled roofs;
- Original window openings with flat arches and stone sills on the façade and north elevation;
- Original entrance opening with transom light and flat head;
- Bay window with stained glass transom light and simple wooden frieze and cornice;
- Two-storey wooden verandah with turned posts, decorative balustrade, brackets and treillage with shed roof; and
- Limestone foundation with ashlar base course on the façade.

Civic Address: 25 Richard Street
Legal Description: Lot 33 N/S Richard St Plan 54; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac
Property Roll Number: 1011 070 090 03600

Introduction and Description of Property

The subject property at 25 Richard Street is located on the north side of the street, midblock between Mowat Avenue and Logan Street in the Village of Portsmouth, now City of Kingston. This approximately 688 square metre residential property contains a two-storey vernacular frame and limestone house constructed circa 1860 for Richard Howard and Bridget Gillespie. A detached garage built in the early-20th century is also present on the property.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

The property is a rare example of a mid-19th century two storey wood frame Georgian cottage with a tall limestone foundation/first storey. The side gable roof and a central unadorned entranceway flanked by symmetrically placed windows is typical of the Georgian style. While this building has been modified and restored several times, its profile, massing and fenestration pattern still retain a clear Georgian character. The wooden shiplap siding covers the original rough-cast (stucco) cladding and the side porch/verandah has been converted to a two storey addition clad in wooden shingles with a shed roof. A large addition has also been added to the rear.

The house is unusual as it is built into the slope of a hill, resulting in a full storey stone foundation. The main entranceway is thus located in the stone foundation, which also includes two large six-over-six sash windows facing south with wooden sills and lintels. A later punched window has been installed on the east side of the foundation.

The house was built for Richard Howard and his wife Bridget Gillespie around 1860. Howard was an Irish immigrant and ship's carpenter, who is recorded as living in the Village since at least 1844 and who bought the property in 1850 for £38.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

The property has contextual value because it is physically, functionally, visually or historically linked to its surroundings.

The former Village of Portsmouth has a distinct heritage character, consisting of a high proportion of 19th century stone and frame buildings within the village. With its distinct Georgian design and prominent street presence onto Richard Street, the subject property helps define and maintain the village character of Portsmouth.

The house's unusually tall foundation and location, looming close to Richard Street, are a direct result of the slope of the property and street. As one of several early stone and frame buildings in this area of the Village of Portsmouth, the property is visually and historically linked to its surroundings.

Heritage Attributes

Key exterior elements that contribute to the property's cultural heritage value include its:

- Two-storey dwelling of wood frame construction with tall limestone foundation;
- Side gable roof with eave returns; and
- Symmetrical front façade with central entranceway; and
- Rectangular window openings with wooden sills and lintels.

Property Roll Number: 1011 010 140 07200

Introduction and Description of Property

The Strand/Tivoli Theatre property, at 262 Princess Street, is located on the south side of the street, midblock between Montreal and Clergy Streets, in downtown Kingston. The approximately 574 square-metre commercial property contains a two-storey building with ornate front facade, built originally as the Strand Theatre circa 1915.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

The property has design value or physical value because it displays a high degree of craftsmanship or artistic merit.

The Strand/Tivoli Theatre is a representative example of early 20th century theatre building in downtown Kingston completed in the Beaux-Arts Classicism style, with its distinctive neo-classical glazed terra-cotta façade that displays a high degree of craftsmanship and artistic effort.

Consisting of an arcade decorated in the Corinthian style, the rich Baroque facade includes corbelling, arched windows and engaged columns. Its design is reminiscent of the theatres of London and was used for the new movie houses springing up across Ontario in the late 19th and early parts of the 20th centuries. The arcade has engaged Corinthian columns and decorated keystones in the arches. The large pilasters at the outer edges of the arcade each has cable moulding marking the rectangular panel underneath elaborate capitals. Below the arcade is a recessed panel edged with cable moulding and holding four cartouches (with modern images). The cornice is embellished with consoles, dentils and an egg and dart banding.

The arched second storey windows were blinded during its time as a furniture store but reintroduced in 2011 by the current owners. A substantial restoration of the exterior detailing was also completed in 2011 including an entire reconstruction of the ground floor façade.

City of Kingston By-Law Number 2024-XX

Its current commercial use on the ground floor maintains the historic development pattern in downtown Kingston (i.e. commercial at grade with residential/office space above).

The property has historical value or associative value because it yields, or has the potential to yield, information that contributes to an understanding of a community or culture.

The property has historical value through its connection to the Strand and Tivoli Theatres and the popularity of theatres in Kingston in the early 20th century. Early maps show a two-storey frame building on this property when it was sold to Harry Martin and T.J. Nugent in 1915. A new purpose-built theatre building was constructed later that year and called the Strand Theatre. When it opened its doors on September 18, 1915, it was said to be “one of the most modern and up-to-date on the American continent” with one of the finest front facades “of any building in Canada.”

It was later sold to Famous Players who, with the help of many local trades’ persons, including well-known local architect Colin Drever, renovated the theatre and renamed it the Tivoli Theatre. Tivoli Theatre’s opening night was May 5, 1930 and featured Winnie Lightner and Chester Morris in “She Couldn’t Say No”.

The property was sold to the Modern Furniture Company Limited in 1946 and was converted to a retail store the following year. The building was again renovated in 2011 after it was sold to the current owners who opened the Trailhead Kingston store. The 2011 restoration was managed by local contractor Pat Powers Construction, with painting done by the Ecclesiastical Group.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

The property has contextual value because it is physically, functionally, visually or historically linked to its surroundings.

The property has contextual value because it is a landmark.

Its contextual value derives from its important role in defining this former entertainment district and supporting the character of the Princess Street streetscape. The Strand/Tivoli Theatre, in association with the Capitol Theatre (223 Princess), the Grand Theatre (218 Princess) and formerly the Orpheum Theatre (250 Princess) to the east defined the evolving entertainment district along Princess Street from the early 1920s through to the 1970s when the industry shifted to suburban locations.

The former theatre also helps to define and maintain the historic and eclectic character of this section of Princess Street between Clergy and Montreal Streets. The Strand/Tivoli Theatre is an important visual contributor to the historic streetscape within the block that features mostly two and three storey, mixed commercial and residential buildings constructed of stone, brick and concrete in a number of styles that were successively developed between circa 1860 through to circa 1930, most of which are valuable heritage resources. This collection of buildings is important for its diverse architectural and historical themes of the economic, social and cultural development of Kingston from the late nineteenth through the twentieth centuries.

With its distinct Baroque detailing and grand arched windows, the Strand/Tivoli Theatre is a landmark within downtown Kingston.

Heritage Attributes

Key exterior elements that contribute to the property's cultural heritage value include its:

- Tall two storey, five-bay massing, with low-pitched sloping roof;
- Distinct glazed terra-cotta front façade, including its deep cornice, embellished with consoles, corbelling, dentils, beading and an egg-and-dart banding;
- Entablature, decorated with 6 garlands in high relief and aligned with the pilasters and engaged columns found in the window area;
- Original window openings in an arcade style with engaged unfluted Corinthian columns, round arches with keystones decorated by leaf forms and springing from pilaster-like forms;
- Horizontal panel edged with intricate mouldings below the arcade and interrupted by four cartouches (with images added in 2011); and
- Paired large pilasters supporting the entablature, one located at each side of the row of windows, a panel forms the shaft, each panel has 3 rows of cable moulding, the shaft supports an elaborate capital bearing an unusual convex oval.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

The property includes a rare example of a mid-19th century sandstone farmhouse, constructed from material likely quarried locally. Sandstone, as a construction material, is relatively rare in Kingston, with only a few examples found in the rural areas of the former Pittsburgh Township.

The subject dwelling’s simple vernacular architecture is expressed through its restrained profile, lack of ornamentation, side-gable roof with central gable, and cut coursed sandstone construction with symmetrical front façade. The only embellishment is the arched window opening in the gable. The dwelling retains its distinct 19th century vernacular profile and unusual multi-coloured sandstone construction, despite the replacement of the original windows, the partial blocking of the front door, and the construction of a large addition at the rear of the property.

The property has historical value or associative value because it has direct associations with a theme, event, belief, person, activity, organization or institution that is significant to a community.

The subject property is associated with the Connor family who built the house and farmed the property for at least two generations. Luke Connor, who immigrated from Ireland sometime before 1830, purchased the property in 1863; however, he and his wife and seven children had been living on the property in a log house from as early as the late 1840s. The dwelling was built circa 1855 and remained in the Connor family until the early 20th century. The small watercourse that crosses the property and eventually feeds into Mud Creek, is named the “Connor Branch” in honour of the Connor family.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

The property has contextual value because it is physically, functionally, visually or historically linked to its surroundings.

The subject property has contextual value due to its simple vernacular design, integrity, multi-coloured sandstone construction, generous setback from the road and its various agricultural buildings. These features and their proximity to the road, support and maintain the scenic and historic rural character of the road. Despite a general lack of sandstone buildings within the City of Kingston, 3566 Boundary Road is located in close proximity to another sandstone building (located at 3748 Sand Hill Road) within the crossroads community of Springfield, suggesting the preference for a vernacular material in the area.

With its Ontario vernacular style, sandstone construction material, likely quarried locally, the dwelling shares a visual and historical relationship with its surroundings and is an important part of the historical rural context of the area.

Heritage Attributes

Key exterior elements that contribute to the property’s cultural heritage value include its:

- One-and-a-half storey farmhouse with side-gable roof and central gable;
- Multi-coloured sandstone construction; and
- Symmetrical front façade and regularly placed fenestration on the sides, with original segmentally-arched openings with stone voussoirs and sills, and half-round arched central opening.

Non-Heritage Attributes

Elements that are not included in the Statement of Cultural Heritage Value of the property include:

- Detached outbuildings.

Legal Description: Part Lot 36 Con 7 Pittsburgh Part 1 13R18925; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac
Property Roll Number: 1011 090 010 08900

Introduction and Description of Property

The Spence House, located at 3748 Sand Hill Road, is situated on the north side of the road, west of Boundary Road, in the former Pittsburgh Township, now part of the City of Kingston. This 1.4-hectare rural residential property contains a two-and-a-half storey L-shaped Ontario vernacular sandstone farmhouse constructed in 1900 for the Spence family, members of whom still own it today.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

The Spence House is a rare example of an early 20th century, ‘L’-shaped sandstone farmhouse. Reportedly quarried from the rear of the property, the Spence House is constructed of light sandstone, with imported dark red sandstone for the voussoirs and windowsills. Sandstone, as a construction material, is relatively rare in Kingston, with only a few examples found in the rural areas of the former Pittsburgh Township.

The Spence House’s simple vernacular architecture is expressed by its restrained profile with cross-gable roof and uncoursed sandstone construction with symmetrical front façade. Some embellishments have been added, such as the window openings with slight arches topped by dark red coloured voussoirs and sills that contrast with the lighter sandstone. While not confirmed, it is understood that the main front door opening (now enclosed by the modern porch that replaced an earlier verandah) is topped by a rectangular transom with radiating voussoirs above.

The property has historical value or associative value because it has direct associations with a theme, event, belief, person, activity, organization or institution that is significant to a community.

The Spence House is associated with the Spence family who have occupied and farmed the property for over 170 years. The property was purchased by John Spence in 1870; however, he had occupied the land since 1851. The Spence family lived in a log house on the property until the current house was built in 1900 by John's son, Thomas William Spence. The property has remained in the Spence family ever since.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

The property has contextual value because it is physically, functionally, visually or historically linked to its surroundings.

The Spence House has contextual value due to its simple vernacular design, integrity, multi-coloured sandstone construction, generous setback from the road and various former agricultural buildings. Schedule “A”
Description and Criteria for Designation

Civic Address: 427-429 Victoria Street / 136 Mack Street
Legal Description: Part Lot 85-86 Plan A8 Kingston City as in FR623939; City of Kingston, County of Frontenac
Property Roll Number: 1011 020 050 02500

Introduction and Description of Property

The subject property, at 427-429 Victoria Street/136 Mack Street, is situated on the southeast corner of the intersection of Victoria and Mack Streets, in the Williamsville area of the City of Kingston. The approximately 948 square metre residential parcel contains a two-storey limestone residence with Italianate elements, constructed in the late 1860s. Modest (and sympathetically designed) additions were added to the south (side) and east (rear) sides of the dwelling in 20th century.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value/Statement of Significance

The property has design value or physical value because it is a rare, unique, representative or early example of a style, type, expression, material or construction method.

The Italianate style for a standalone residential building is relatively rare in Kingston, making the subject property a rare example of a two-storey limestone house with Italianate influences in Kingston. The main front entrance and façade of the house face west towards Victoria Street.

The house is constructed of limestone laid in even courses on the front/western façade and in uneven courses on the side elevations. Typical of the Italianate style are the rectangular massing and hip roof with deep cornice and prominent front entrance. Also typical of the style is the organized arrangement of large windows on the front façade. The house has two tall chimneys, one on the north side of the roof, the other on the south. The front/west façade is symmetrical, featuring a projecting central bay with a prominent front entrance framed by a stone porch. The window openings feature limestone voussoirs and stone sills. The north elevation includes a single bay of windows with limestone voussoirs and stone sills.

The property has contextual value because it is important in defining, maintaining or supporting the character of an area.

The property has contextual value because it is a landmark.

The subject property is located south of Princess Street, north of Brock Street and west of Victoria Park, in a part of the Williamsville area that is dominated by post World War 2 housing. The subject limestone dwelling is distinct and defines the immediate area, which has few remaining buildings from this period. Its form, limestone construction, broad two-storey massing and prominent corner location, not only make this building a landmark in the area, but also help to maintain the former original material fabric of the Williamsville area.

Heritage Attributes

Key exterior elements that contribute to the property's cultural heritage value include its:

- Two storey limestone house in a square plan, constructed of limestone laid in even courses on the front (western) façade and uneven course on the side elevations;
- Hip roof with deep cornice and two tall brick chimneys;
- Symmetrical front and side elevations, with rectangular flat-headed window openings with limestone voussoirs and sills; and
- Limestone porch with knee-walls and corner posts.

Hi Ryan,

Thanks for your reply. I absolutely overlooked those projecting entrance bays in 9 years of living at 27 Rideau - subtle indeed, but I have to admit you're right.

I will be similarly unable to attend an 0930 meeting on 21 August due to working full time, but by copying Mr Sullivan here I hope to reiterate my objection to these properties being receiving heritage designation. As I stated before, I am absolutely in favour of efforts to preserve buildings which are of real historical significance, and I appreciate many of the wonderful heritage homes and buildings which are present in Sydenham Ward and many other areas of our city, as well as the work that has been done by the Heritage Properties Committee for their preservation. However, I believe that the restrictions and limitations which are unarguably imposed by receipt of heritage designation are very significant infringements on the rights of property owners. These property rights should only be infringed in instances where there is very clear evidence of true historical and architectural significance, and I believe that bar should be set quite high. I do not believe that these properties meet that threshold, and as their owner I object in the strongest possible terms to them receiving heritage designation. I request that the HPC recommend to the Council that this not be done.

Thanks again for your reply, and for pointing out the projecting entrance bays to my notice.

Cheers,

Steve

Good morning Dr. Mann,

Thank you for your email. We appreciate your apprehension towards the heritage designation and hope the handout 'Property Owner's Guide to Heritage Designation' helped to answer some of your questions.

Given the recent changes to the Ontario Heritage Act, Council has directed us to advance any currently listed properties for designation consideration, if they meet the criteria. As noted in the draft by-law we sent you, these properties meet the minimum threshold for determining cultural heritage value.

The “projecting entrance bays” are subtle, but I assure you all three of these addresses include them:

Age is not a criterion for evaluating heritage value. We acknowledge that this row is not the most exciting from an architectural perspective, however it is a good example of its type and greatly contributes to the historic working-class character of this area. Its integrity is still evident (e.g. original opening, brick and limestone construction and pitched roofs). Yes, we acknowledge there have been a number of alterations to these buildings over the years. The heritage evaluation of these addresses was undertaken recently and with these changes in mind.

The open house noted on your letter for July 24 is simply a chance to ask these questions in person to staff. No decisions are being made that day. The next step in the process is to present the draft by-law to the Kingston Heritage Properties Committee on August 21. The meeting is at 9:30 am in City Hall. You are welcome to join us either virtually or in-person at the heritage committee meeting to voice your concerns. Alternatively, you can put your comments and concerns into a letter and send it to Committee Clerk, Iain Sullivan, (isullivan@cityofkingston.ca) who will ensure the committee receives it. As Council’s advisors, the heritage committee will provide their recommendation on this matter to Council for their consideration (likely at their September 3 meeting). We will keep owners apprised of the progress of this matter.

I am happy to answer any further questions you may have.

Ryan

Subject: Heritage designation for 27, 29, and 31 Rideau St

Dear Mr Leary,

Thank you for your letters regarding the potential addition of 27, 29, and 31 Rideau St to the Heritage Properties Register. I wish to express in the strongest possible terms my objection to this proposal.

I am fully in favour of the city's efforts to preserve the wonderful architectural heritage we enjoy in Kingston. As the treasurer and president of a non-profit organisation which is housed in a designated downtown heritage building, I am aware of the implications (and, in many cases, benefits) of this designation, and of the importance of ongoing efforts to maintain the many wonderful properties which we have inherited from posterity.

However, I believe that heritage designation should be reserved for buildings which are truly of historical and architectural importance, and not applied simply because a building is old. In the case of these three properties, the heritage attributes described in your letter basically boil down to the fact that they are two-storey red brick townhouses with limestone foundations. The described gable roofs are actually not extant, as the roofline of all three properties has been altered in the course of significant renovations undertaken over the last 10 years. Nor do any of these properties have projecting entrance bays as described.

27 Rideau has had an entire third story added, with blue Hardy board construction and a taupe sheet-metal roof, as well as a significant addition in the rear. 29 and 31 have undergone complete renovations into multi-unit dwellings, with the only existing original features being the exterior bricks - as noted, the roofline of both has been changed.

I would submit that whilst these three properties contribute to the character of the neighbourhood, they are neither so architecturally interesting nor preserved so closely to their original character and construction that they warrant heritage designation, and they are actually lacking several features which are noted in your letter as reasons for their consideration as heritage properties.

Due to the fact that I work full-time, I will be unable to attend the planned open house on 24 June, but I would request that this letter be considered at that time, as well as that I be notified of any Heritage Properties Committee meetings which will consider these properties.

Many thanks,
